Featured Wine of the Month:
The Prisoner

Inspired by the efforts of the Italian immigrants to the Napa Valley who made the first “mixed blacks” or red blends during the early 1900s, The Prisoner today is recognized as one of Napa Valley’s best known and most innovative red blends. Begun in 2003 and now Inspired by the collaborative effort between winemaker Jen Beloz and Napa Valley growers the Prisoner remains a unique blend of Zinfandel together with Cabernet Sauvignon, Petite Sirah, Syrah and Charbono.

Just in time for the holiday season, we have made a large buy of The Prisoner and are pleased to be passing the savings on to you. While supplies last we will be offering it a special price of $39.99. Take advantage of the quantity discount of 10% on purchases of 6 bottles or more to lower your cost to $35.99 per bottle, a savings of 23% over current suggested retail! We have plenty on hand right now but at this price they will go quickly. The price is good while supplies last so stock up and save today!

From the Vines

By Paul Magiera – Certified Wine Specialist

The November 30th issue of Wine Spectator published an extensive review of California Cabernets by lead taster James Laube. Included is an alphabetical guide of 700 wines including ratings and suggested retail prices. The 2013 Napa vintage was identified as one of the best ever, producing high quality wines that will improve with proper cellaring. Although many of the best Cabernets were produced in limited quantities and are hard to obtain, the 2013 crop produced many wines that scored 85 or better (very good) on Wine Spectator's 100 point scale and are obtainable at reasonable prices. Laube also recommends exploring wines from the Sonoma and Paso Robles regions as these vintages continue to score impressive gains in quality.

Check with us to see if we have your selection in stock or if we can obtain it through our distribution network. Wines from Francis Coppola, Kendall Jackson, William Hill and Louis Martini are cited in the article as examples of Cabernets offering exceptional value.
